'Mule Hat Chama' Is Believed by One SPCA

LOS ANGELES—They never had it so good, the poor creatures that human beings are apt to treat cruelly. In this city they are being showered with luxury. Soft music greets the ears of the inmates of the new animal shelter of the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The shelter also includes bunk beds, a diet kitchen and germicidal lamps. And a drinking fountain which dispenses fresh water to dogs on the street outside is labeled "dog bar."

"Organ music is best suited for the dogs," said Alex Tilley, general manager of the society.

"The selection must not hit high C or the dogs will begin howling. And Be-Stop—well, that's out, too."

Discovery of Ancient Chest

Spurs Another Treasure Hunt

MANTOLOKING, N. J.—News of the finding of an ancient treasure chest containing 15th century English gold coin and jewelry sent amateur prospectors searching sands along the Atlantic coast recently.

The surf-battered chest, discovered by Joseph Doherty, Jr., 12 years old, of Philadelphia, has released clusters of English guineas and half-guineas of 1589, covered over in crude mortar, as well as mortar-encrusted rings, gold buckles and cufflinks.

Police Chief J. Harrison Herbert is firmly convinced the coins represent a pirate hoard and says he is bolstered in the opinion by the fact that an English pirate ship, the "Thistle" was lost near Mananquey Inlet, nearby, in 1513. The chest also was convinced that the coins were quite legitimate after sending two of them to the Chase National Bank in New York for analysis.

Young Dowling, finder of the chest, found it too heavy to handle and called for help from A. S. Blagden of Easton, Pa., and his son.

The pulled the chest ashore and lifted out its weather-soaked contents. Gold buckles, cuff links, rings and three ancient coins were exposed to the bright sun when the rough substance covering them was stripped away. The three divided the find, and on Sunday evening returned to their homes. A few of the coins were left with local authorities.

Chief Herbert donned rubber boots and joined a crowd of treasure hunters who waded into the ocean. He came ashore later with two bars of metal covered with mortar but without any other prize.

Another searcher, Mrs. Elizabeth Earle, was more fortunate. She found a clump of eucalyptus which, when broken up, revealed a dozen rings, which appeared to be gold.

Chief Herbert said the original find had been split three ways. Young Dowling went home with more than ninety coins, buckles and rings. Blagden and his son also had their pockets stuffed.

Soff's Funeral Fizzes After Four Joyous Days

PITTSBURGH—There can be too much of a good thing—even a good funeral. Soff Marion wanted to make her exit last full week, but her 200 friends and relatives had to give up after four days. Her funeral was a good time at my funeral. I don't want anyone to be sad."

She always gave big parties and she wanted her last one to be the biggest of all. She wanted to last a week.

But her guests only lasted four days. They had eaten part of the eight lambs and three roasts.

This new bench grinder for farm, home and shop incorporates several outstanding features not usually found in a low-priced grinder. Manufactured by Electro Machines, Inc., Cedarburg, Wis. this grinder is designed to provide ample working areas in front of the motor frame and in the space between the frame and the inside of the grinding wheels.

Wheel guards are removable for easy attachment of buffing wheels and other grinder accessories. It is equipped with lifetime lubricated ball bearing for long, trouble-free service. All hardware is cadmium plated.

U. S. Agricultural Unit Helped Penicillin Use

Although the U. S. department of agriculture did not make the discovery of penicillin, its work made it practical to produce the antibiotic commercially. They discovered a new and more productive strain of the penicillin mold. Also as a result of their war research, they developed methods of feeding the mold and separating and purifying the product. A major contribution in itself.
